

Drought Conditions

The State of Colorado is currently experiencing abnormally dry conditions with temperatures above average and precipitation well below average. Northern Colorado is experiencing abnormally dry conditions bordering on moderate drought conditions. With this in mind, the City of Evans urges its water customers to be conservative in your use of our precious water supplies. If drought conditions persist it may become necessary to impose more severe watering restrictions to help conserve. Please do more to help this cause by being mindful of your water use practices.
